

J.P. DiMisa

Distinction: Started his own general real estate sales company, Real Estate Matters, LLC.

Place of business: Delray Beach

Broadcasting to building

Age: 32

Education: B.S. in broadcast journalism and sociology from the University of Miami.

Personal: Married to Melissa DiMisa. They have a child, Maya DiMisa, 9 months; and live in Boca Raton.

Hobbies: Car enthusiast, architecture buff, loves boating.

Career highlight: "I developed and built my first home at age 24. I acquired the property, knocked down the existing home, and designed a super efficient and very architecturally attractive two-story home. I built it in record time (seven months), and sold it to a very nice professional couple who relocated from Coral Gables."

DAMON HIGGINS/Staff Photographer

Founder of Real Estate Matters, J.P. DiMisa is a second-generation developer, Realtor and state-certified general contractor.